Wake Robin Newsletter

October 2023

Coming Your Way!

We have a brief version of the e-newsletter this month to tell you that our print version is coming to your mailbox. Twice a year, we do a hard-copy version, and this is the Fall edition, arriving in early November.

You'll find a story about many projects we completed this year, from pool maintenance to landscaping improvements. October saw the biggest celebration of our 30th Anniversary with the screening of a new documentary, and we tell you about who takes care of the archives at Wake Robin. There is also a historical timeline, a listing of upcoming Inquire presentations, and an early notice of special events for Priority Depositors.

If you didn't get one in the mail, we would happily send one. Please

The First Thirty

President & CEO, Meagan Buckley welcomes residents and staff to the festivities

On October 25th, residents and staff came together to celebrate the viewing of "The First Thirty", a video commemorating Wake Robin's 30th Anniversary. There were appetizers, a wine table (sponsored by the Social Committee), and a delicious dinner. What a wonderful night!

Wake Robin in the New York Times

The New York Times has spotted a trend and Wake Robin is part of it. In an article that appeared on October 31, the Times reported that many seniors are choosing to live in retirement communities that are closer to their children and grandchildren. It's nice to see the Wake Robin campus in several photos. Click on the link and check it out.

Happy Anniversary, Wake Robin!

Planning for our 30th Anniversary began last year when we rounded up dozens of volunteers, residents, and staff, to make a human “30.” We turned this drone image into a promotional button we have been wearing all year. This is what it looked like on photoshoot day.

Remember to keep up with all that's happening at Wake Robin by checking out our Facebook and Instagram pages, and make sure to like and follow us! You will see fun and informative posts, like the one above!
